C.S. Lewis Writers Scholarship

In honor of C.S. Lewis, the Lewis Foundation has come alongside CreatEd institute to launch the C.S. Lewis Writers Scholarship for young people who wish to be a redemptive cultural voice in society. The C.S. Lewis Writers Scholarship will be a $2,000 scholarship granted to 3 students per incoming cohort and the amount will be distributed over the 18-month program. In order to qualify for the C.S. Lewis Writer's Scholarship, students must write a 500-750 word essay according to the following prompts:

- ❖ Choose any piece of literature by C.S. Lewis and provide a reflection of the impact it's had on your life.

CreatEd Institute strives to cultivate reading comprehension, critical thinking, and communication in our students. As such, students participate in daily readings, wrestling with profound and difficult concepts from authors across time. Students are challenged to digest, reflect on, and process what they have read with the hopes that the truths they mine from these readings will lead to personal and spiritual growth and transformation. In congruence with these goals, winners of the C.S. Lewis Writers Scholarship will be selected based on their superior writing skills, reading comprehension, and depth of reflection to the selected piece.

Submissions must be submitted to pikeda@created.education by June 30th, 2019. Recipients who are awarded this scholarship will be notified in advance upon review and selection prior to August 1st, 2019. The awarded amount will be deducted from the student's overall costs, and applied by the billing department based on the student's selected billing cycle.

Grants provided by the CreatEd Institute are:

CreatEd Grant

As part of their application, students indicate whether they will require financial assistance or not. Students must submit an explanation for need of the grant and submit the past two years financial tax returns to support their claim. If the need for assistance is approved, CreatEd Institute grants up to $4,000 to the student, divided into four semester payments of $1,000. The awarded amount is deducted from the student's overall costs, and applied by the billing department each semester.

Norment Grant

In honor of their call to serve and empower the next generation, the Norment family, the founders of CreatEd Institute, has donated funds to be allocated for students with the greatest need. Students who have severe financial circumstances and are unable to attend CreatEd Institute even with all the financial aid options above, they may qualify for the Norment Grant. Students who are requesting aid from the Norment Grant must have submitted their application with the requirements for the CreatEd Grant and schedule a personal meeting with Bobby Norment and Peter Ikeda from CreatEd Institute and whomever is financially responsible for their tuition (ex: parents, supporters, etc.). The grant is awarded to students at the discretion of the Institute and is allocated in amounts based on the needs of the individual student. The awarded amount is deducted from the student's overall costs, and applied by the billing department each semester. To setup a meeting, please contact pikeda@created.education.

Student Part-Time Work

To offset the expense of the program, a majority of our students choose to work part-time in the local Black Mountain/Asheville community. Part-time work can effectively cover a decent portion of the cost of the program (see our financial model for a comprehensive breakdown) and expose students to enriching experiences and community outside of the classroom.
